

BABY NO TROUBLE AT CHURCH TODAY

Methodists Will Start Nursery So Mothers May Hear the Sermons.

SERVICE FOR CHILDREN

Presbyterian Sunday School Preparing Thanksgiving Program.

An unusually large number of babies are expected to attend services at the Methodist Episcopal Church South today. They are to be entertained in the nursery while their mothers listen to the sermon in the auditorium. A committee of girls will amuse, entertain and care for all the children under 3 years old during the church service. Miss Loretta Ferguson, with several assistants will have charge of the little ones.

"We hope to have a large number of babies here," said Mrs. C. M. Aker, "I know a great many mothers who remain away from church because their children are too young to behave" during the sermon and they have no one to leave them with at home. There has been a need for a church nursery for some time, and as we expect to have the children competently and intelligently cared for and amused, we want to have the nursery full of children every Sunday."

Juniors to Elect.
The Junior Church of the Methodist Church South will organize and elect officers today. They will have a service as near like the service for the grown-ups as possible. With their own church board, treasurer and other officers, choir organist and chorister, the only grown person in the room will be the "preacher," Mrs. C. M. Aker.

The idea of a church for children conducted entirely by children is not a new one. It has been tried with success in several churches in the East. In the Central Methodist Church South in Kansas City, there is a progressive Junior Church, which has for its pastor, a brother of the Rev. C. M. Aker of Columbia.

The annual Thanksgiving exercises of the primary department of the Presbyterian Sunday School will be given in the auditorium of the church a week from today, at the Sunday school hour. The children will give a program of songs, drills, verse and dialogues. They are being taught by the primary teachers, Mrs. Marshall Gordon, Mrs. N. T. Gentry, Miss Sadie Craig, Miss Juliet Smith, Mrs. F. H. Russell, Miss Wilma Woodward and Miss Adeline Jesse.

Bible Class at Dinner.
The Bible class of the Presbyterian Sunday School taught by C. A. Ellwood gave a dinner to the thirty members at the Virginia Grill last night. Short talks on the work of the class were made by J. J. Carter, W. W. Elwang, N. T. Gentry and C. A. Ellwood. The toastmaster for the evening was A. E. Epperson.

Dr. C. A. Ellwood will talk on "Practical Christianity" at the Christian Church at 10:45 o'clock this morning. The Rev. G. D. The morning anthem will be "The Golden Threshold," and the evening anthem "Comes at Times a Stillness." Sunday School will be at 9:30 o'clock this morning.

KANSAS PROVES EASY

Cornhuskers Romp Over Jay-hawkers, Scoring 23 Points to 0.

LAWRENCE, KAN., Nov. 18.—Stiehm's Cornhuskers found Kansas easy going here today in the annual football contest between Nebraska and Kansas. Sherwin's men lost, 23 to 0. The result of the game was never in doubt, though at times the Kansans exhibited bursts that might have meant a score.

At the end of the first quarter, Nebraska lead, 6 to 0. In the second quarter twelve more points were added and in the third another touchdown without goal was made. The reason for a blank fourth quarter was that Stiehm used many of his substitutes, saving his regular men for his big game of the year next Saturday with Michigan. The absence of the regulars and first team playing allowed Kansas to brace and stave off additional tallies by Nebraska.

NO REFUND SAYS BENJAMIN

Ticket Sellers for the Mo.-Kas Game Claims Scalpers Will Get Stung.

"No tickets exchanged; no money refunded," is the remedy for scalping tickets, says Sam Benjamin, who has charge of the sale of tickets to the Missouri-Kansas game.

Mr. Benjamin keeps this sign in sight of all those who purchase tickets from him. Then when the scalper finds that plenty of seats have been provided he wants to return his extra tickets but he always meets a cold "No" and a motion toward the sign on the wall.

"Many of those who had bought extra tickets to the Missouri-Kansas game last year came to me with tears in their eyes about 3:30 o'clock on the day of the game and wanted me to give them their money back. Some of them even offered to give me their tickets for fifty cents. They were stung. Some are going to get stung here too."

SHAKESPEARE NIGHT AT U. H. S.

Boys and Girls Dressed Like Characters and Told Stories.

Robbers and knights, beggars and kings, and fine court ladies from the plays and stories of Shakespeare met for a social evening in the auditorium of the University High School last night. Students who have been studying the works of Shakespeare appeared in costume and told in their own words the story of their lives as Shakespeare had portrayed it. The evening opened with a contest in which each one attempted to name the character which the others depicted. After the story-telling refreshments were served by the class in domestic science. Seventy-one characters were represented.

COLLEGE GIRLS IN A MUSICAL COMEDY

Annual Bazaar of Y. W. C. A. at Christian College Include Vaudeville. Also.

A WILLY-NILLY CHORUS

Last Year the Affair Was Called "A Carnival of Nations."

Real live moving-pictures, fancy dancing, acrobatic feats and musical-comedy choruses will be given by an all-star theatrical troupe of Christian College girls at their annual bazaar December 12. This stunt will be in imitation of a vaudeville show, including the customary much-bemused woman who will sell tickets at the window. Some of the numbers given will be the original (supposedly) "Willy-Nilly Chorus," the Coronation Band (imported), the new cake-walk and barn-dance, and some moving-pictures so like-like that they have already been heard to talk.

This vaudeville is expected to please the amusement-seekers which will attend the bazaar. For part of the public which will attend the bazaar. For those who come for the more serious business of attending to all their holiday shopping, a store in almost every line of business in Columbia will be represented. The outside of the booths, the display in the windows and the goods to be sold will be arranged to represent each store as nearly as possible. It is even hinted that the similarity to the stores will not stop there, but that in each store the prospective purchaser will find a proprietor and clerks so exactly like its namesake on Broadway that they will be bewildered by the double likenesses. At any rate the college girls are planning to combine a great deal of fun and make-believe with the money-making part of the bazaar.

This is the second year of this holiday bazaar given by the Y. W. C. A. girls of the college. Last year it was called "A Carnival of Nations," and in each booth the various nations of the world were represented, in dress, manners, articles sold, and as nearly as possible in the language spoken by the girls.

COLLEGE MEN RAISING APPLES

E. L. Kelso, M. C. Alumnus, Learning Fruit Country in Oregon.

E. L. Kelso, a graduate of the College of Agriculture in 1907, is spending a few days in Columbia. Soon after his graduation Mr. Kelso went to the Hood River apple region in Oregon. Here he bought an orchard and improved it and has been working it the last four years. Recently he sold out at a good price and has temporarily accepted a position with the United States Department of Agriculture. He says he expects to return to the fruit business some time soon but probably in some other part of the West.

In the last few years several graduates of the College of Agriculture have gone to the Hood River apple region, among whom were Homer Green, F. E. Lanham, E. C. Scott, and also several undergraduates. Mr. Kelso said he had at one time four University of Missouri men employed on his farm.

This apple region is almost entirely owned and operated by college men. In the main town of the region Mr. Kelso says there is a club composed of 300 college men. Mr. Kelso believes this is one of the most remarkable agricultural communities in the country.

W. T. Conley and F. M. Myers Formerly of Central Bank the Promoters.

A new bank will be started in the Guitar Building at Eighth and Walnut streets January 1. It will be a state bank with a capital of probably $20,000.

The promoters are W. T. Conley and S. M. Myers. They were connected with the Central Bank. Mr. Conley as president and Mr. Myers as a director, until the first of last January, when they disposed of their stock to Ira T. G. Stone.

"The reason we are establishing this bank," said Mr. Conley yesterday, "is that we believe Columbia is going to grow so fast that a new bank will be needed right away."

"We want it understood that we are on the friendliest terms with the Central Bank. This new business is the result of our optimistic views of the future of Columbia. We think that there is room for one more bank."

"The location is one of the most central in the town. It will have the advantage of being only a few steps to the courthouse and also near Broadway."

The room next to the elevator is the one to be occupied by the bank.

SHORT COURSE TO THE TOWNS

College of Agriculture to Send Men to Rural Districts.

The newest thing in agricultural training offered by the Missouri College of Agriculture is a branch short course. During the coming winter several branch short courses will be given at various points in the state. At each one the College of Agriculture will furnish two men who will spend their entire time for five days in giving instructions in dairying, farm crops, soils, fruit, live stock poultry and farm management. In general the subjects taught will be suited to the special needs of the community.

Since the number of branch short courses must necessarily be limited they will be given to those localities which apply first and which show the greatest interest in the work. Full particulars of the branch short courses may be had by writing to F. F. Mumford, Dean, Missouri College of Agriculture, Columbia, Mo.

NO SPECIALS FOR LECTURERS

Institute Workers Will Travel by Regular Trains.

The State Board of Agriculture and the railroads interested in promoting institute work among the farmers in Missouri have adopted a new policy regarding transportation. Heretofore, special trains were used to carry the lecturers to the towns where institutes were to be conducted. Now lecturers will go to the towns along the railroads by regular trains.

Their lectures will be delivered in high schools or town-halls and then they will go to the next place by the following train. Special trains are used only to make up time to fulfill stated appointments in case there is delay in regular train schedule.

Five lecturers are now on the road along the Wabash going from Moberly to McFall on regular trains. From McFall they will go as far as Warrington, reaching there November 25.

Unearned Touchdown Wound up Weird Contest That Was Always Close.

By a Staff Correspondent.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., November 18.—After battling through almost four quarters of what promised to be a scoreless game, the University of Missouri Tigers lost to St. Louis University yesterday afternoon 5 to 0 by a fumble in the last few minutes of play. Woodward, substitute quarterback who replaced Brees, was in the game just long enough to make the unlucky play.

The game was largely a punting duel. Hall booted the ball well for Missouri but the St. Louisans proved equally proficient at kicking. Missouri suffered a number of costly penalties. A crowd of 3,500 people saw the game. The field was heavy and neither team could get under full speed.
